

Relational model dominates today: it removes navigational complexity of Hierarchical/Network models while keeping data independence.

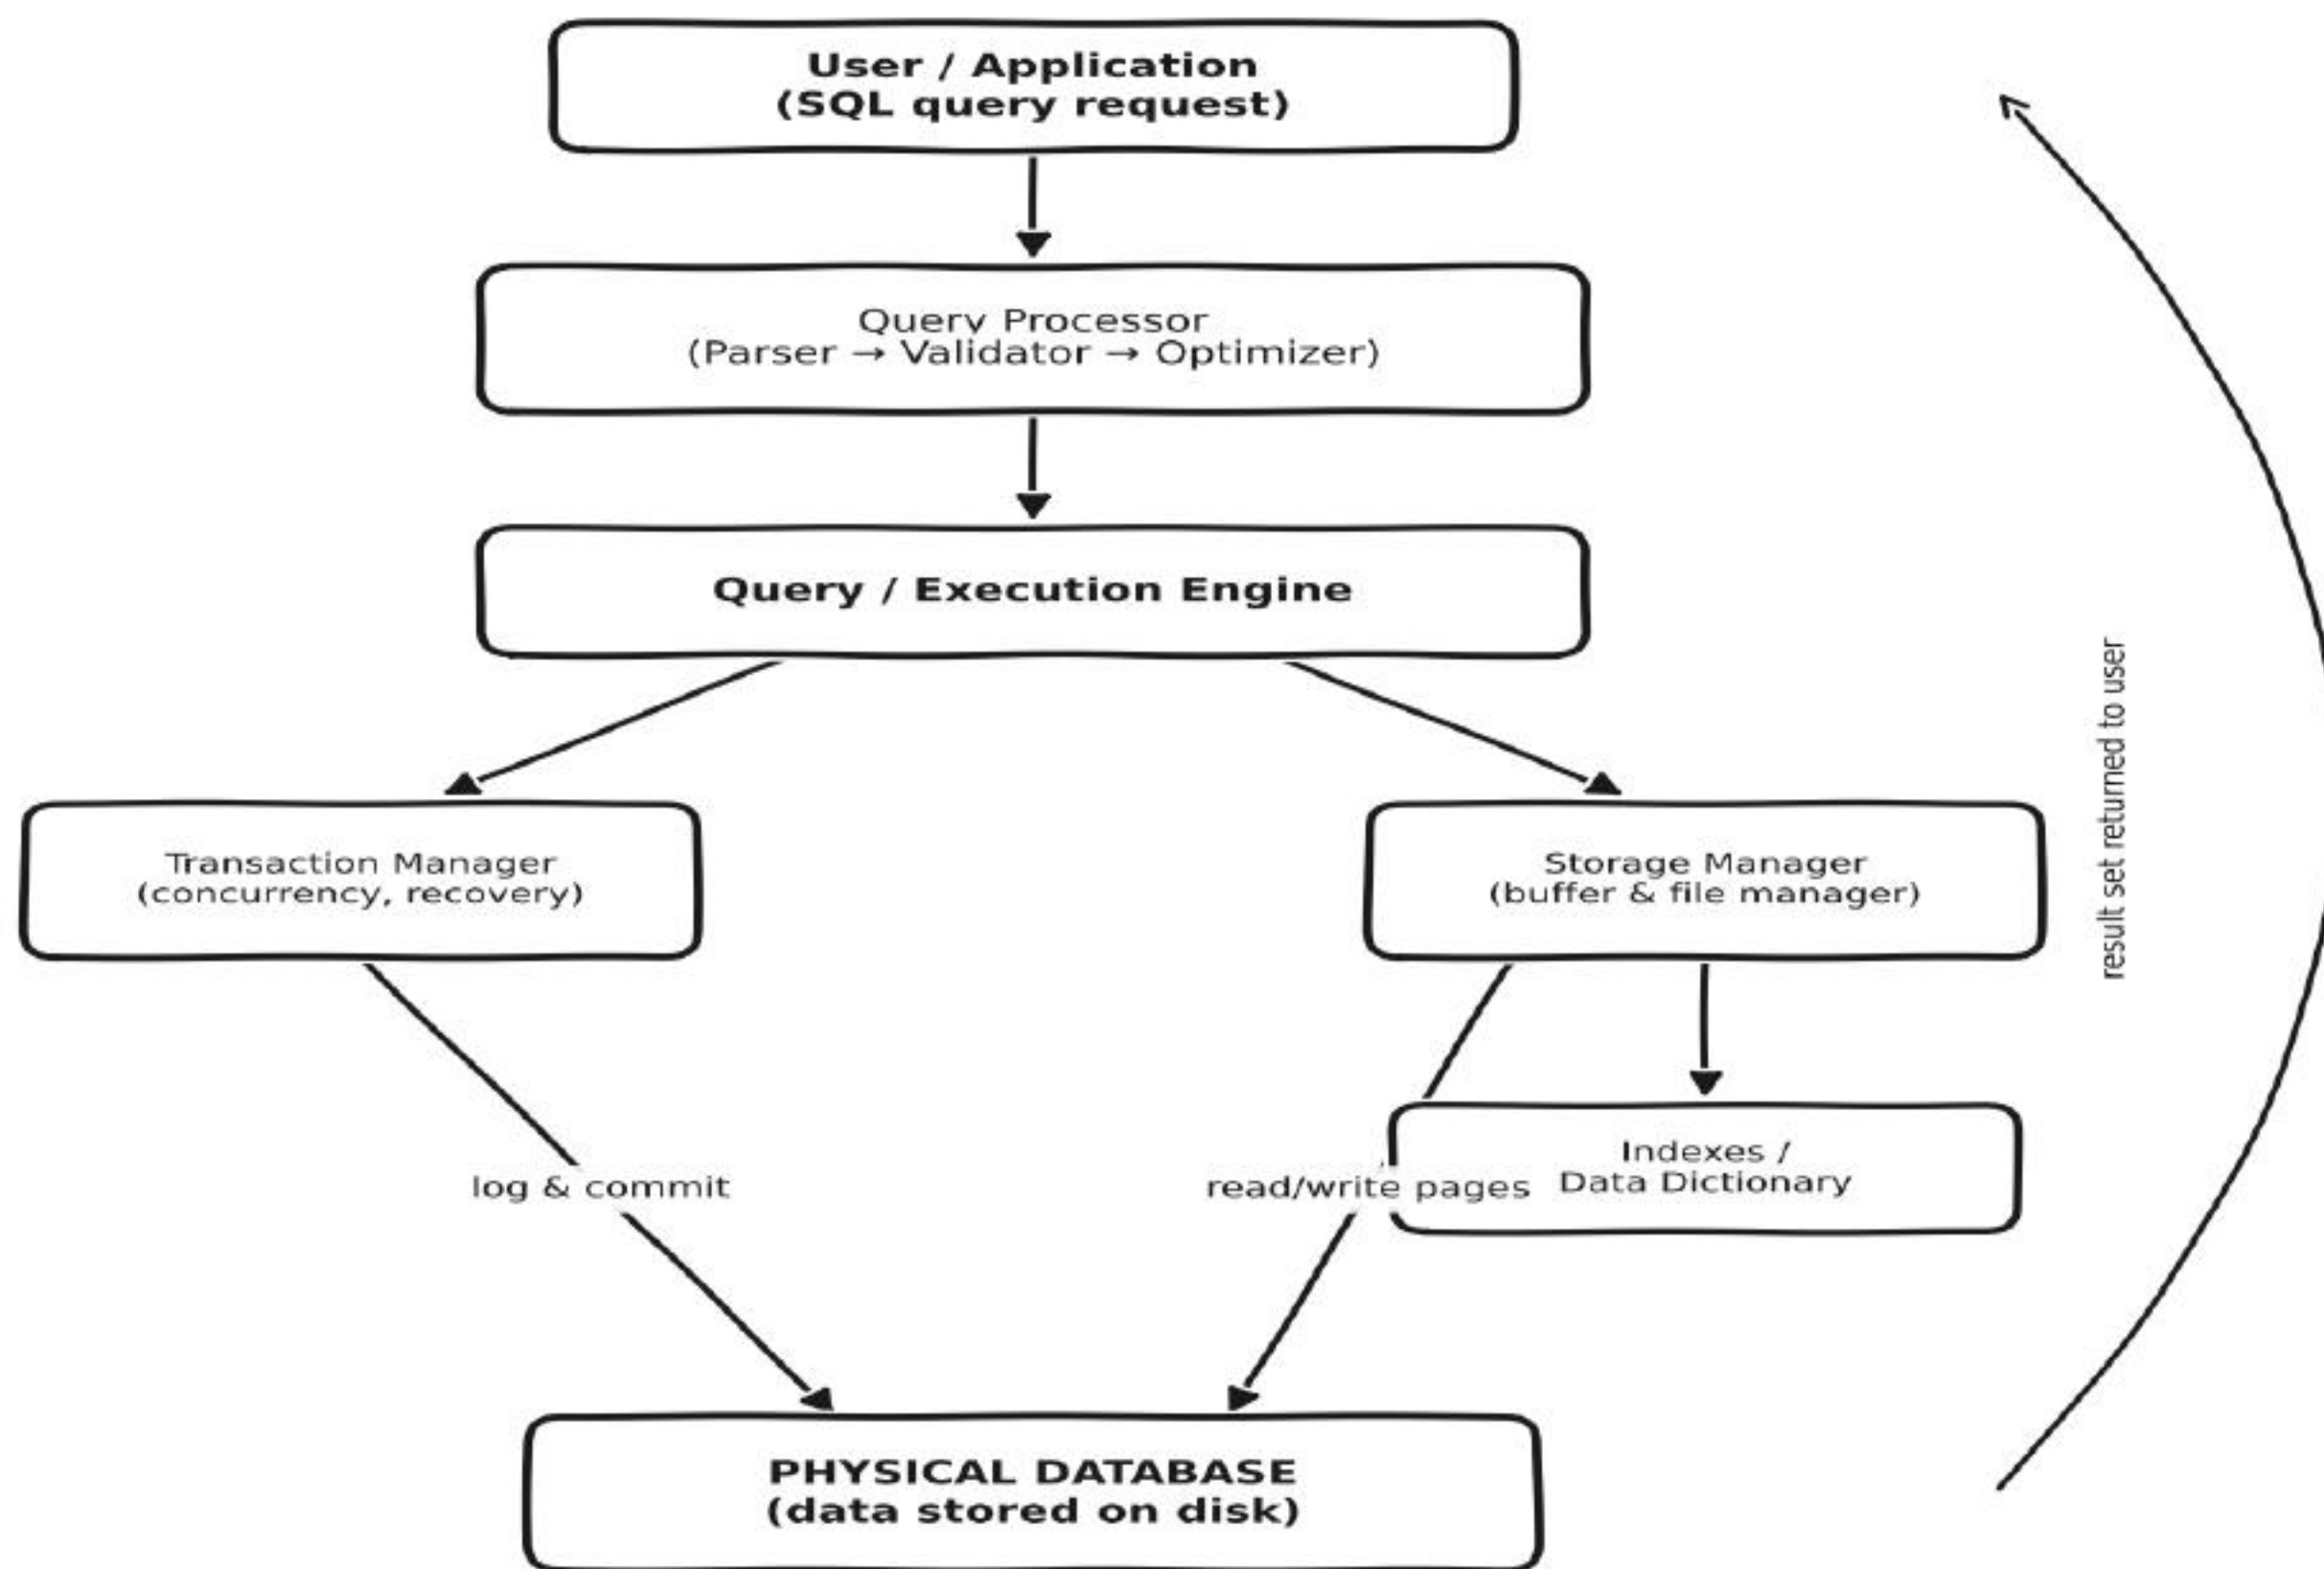

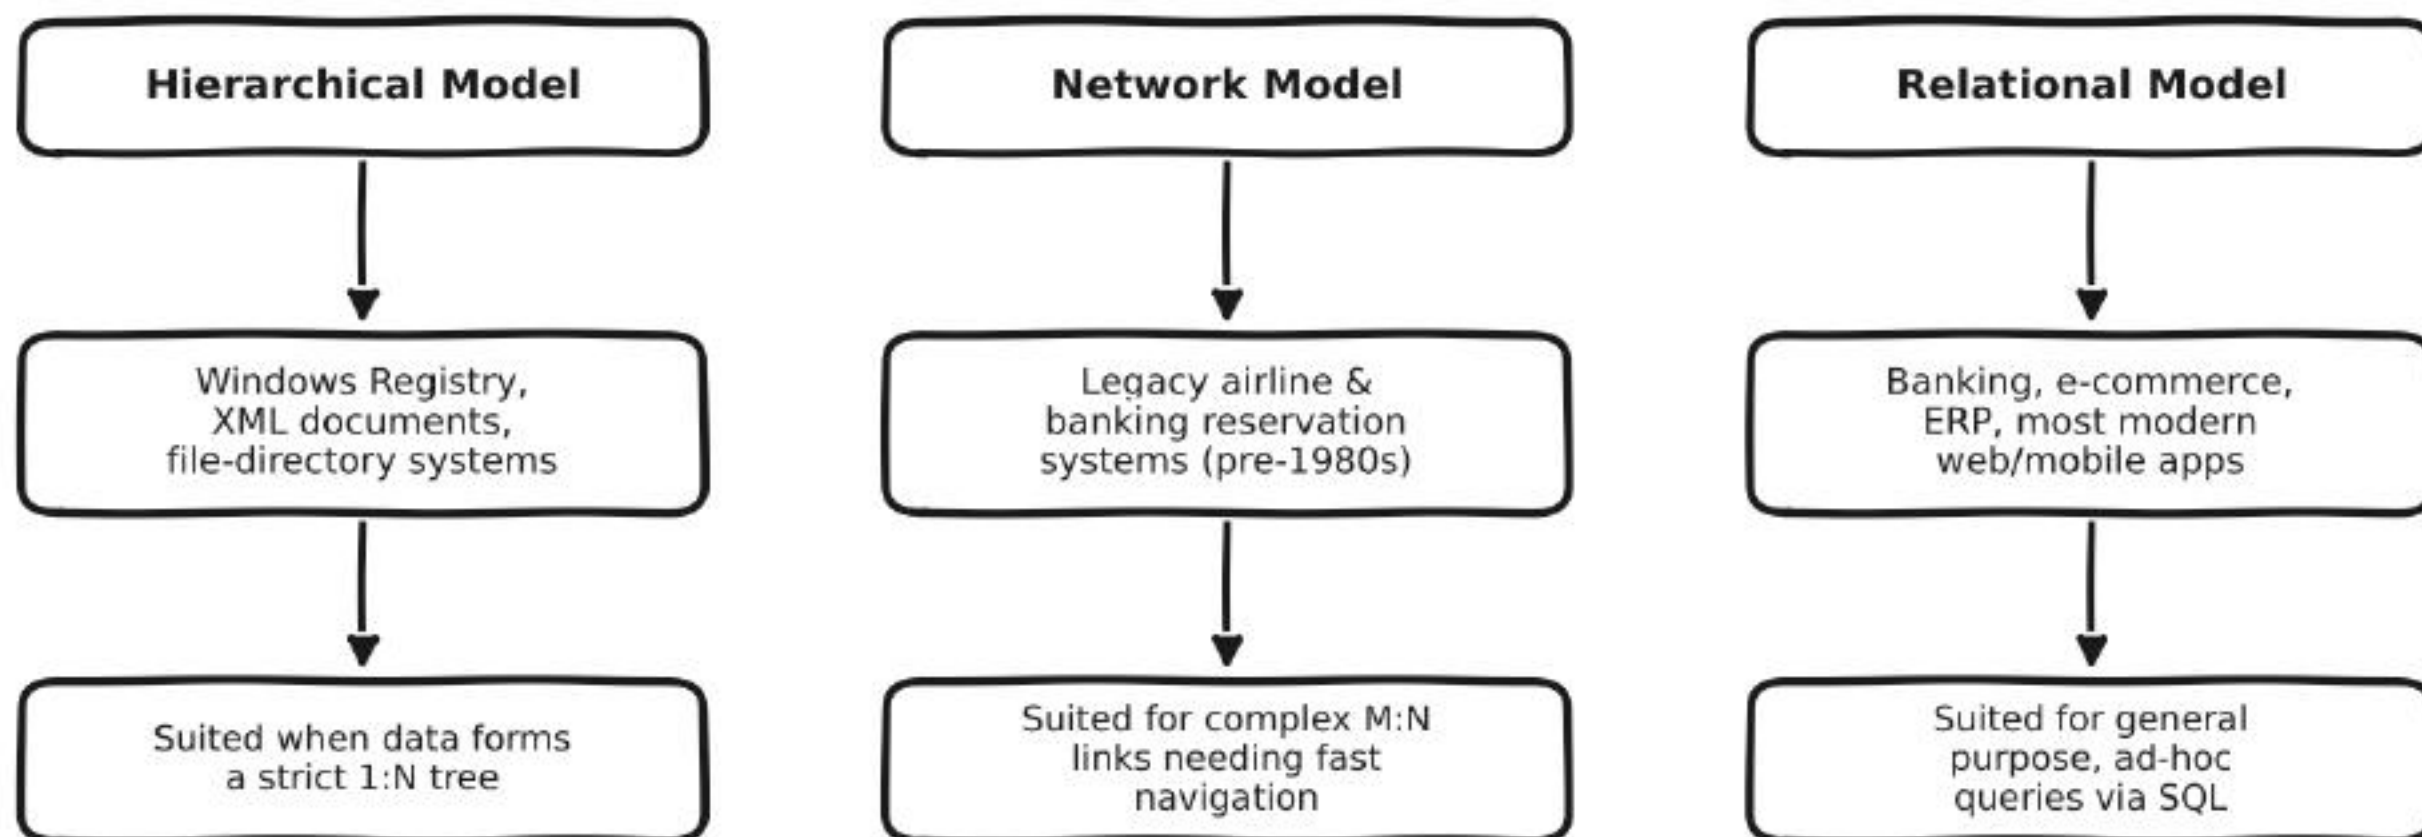

Generalization / Specialization example

Aggregation example

Suitability depends on: nature of relationships (1:N vs M:N), need for flexible querying, and whether the application needs to evolve over time.

